Illinois Soybean Association Mission Statement

Representing the interests of and delivering improved production and market opportunities for Illinois soybean farmers.

Organizations & Relationships

The Illinois Soybean Association (ISA) is the statewide organization for Illinois soybean farmers. The 24 farmers on its board administer soybean checkoff funds to support research, promotions and educational programs designed to increase demand for Illinois soybeans and administer legislation and membership programs.

The American Soybean Association (ASA) is the national parent organization for the membership and legislative arm of ISA. ASA positions are elected by the ISA Board of Directors. Three Illinois farmers serve on the ASA Board of Directors. The ASA represents national legislative interests of soybean growers.

The United Soybean Board (USB) administers one-half of funds collected under the national soybean checkoff. National soybean organization positions are nominated by the ISA Board of Directors and appointed by the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, and are responsible for representing the best interests of Illinois soybean farmers on the United Soybean Board. Four Illinois farmers serve on the board.
